

Lilavati Hospital bags CFBP Jamnalal Bajaj Award for fair business practices

IMT News Desk  April 2, 2024

 516  Less than a minute

The institution's commitment to upholding ethical standards and promoting transparency in the healthcare industry has earned them this esteemed accolade

Mumbai-based Lilavati Hospital & Research Centre has been awarded the CFBP Jamnalal Bajaj Award for its unwavering dedication to fair business practices. The institution's commitment to upholding ethical standards and promoting transparency in the healthcare industry has earned them this esteemed accolade, highlighting their exceptional leadership and integrity.

The Jamnalal Bajaj Uchit Vyavahar Puraskar has gained widespread acclaim for its rigorous selection process and high standards. It aims to highlight individuals and organisations across various sectors who have not only achieved success in their respective fields but have also prioritised ethical conduct and fairness in all aspects of their business dealings.

Dr Niraj Uttamani, COO, Lilavati Hospital, expressed gratitude for receiving the Jamnalal Bajaj Uchit Vyavahar Puraskar, emphasising the significance of the award in reflecting stakeholders' trust and admiration for the hospital.

Kundan Singh – Deputy Director, Operations & Marketing Lilavati Hospital & Research Centre Bandra said, "The Fair Business Practices Award serves as a testament to Lilavati Hospital's ethos of prioritising patient well-being above all else. Through adherence to strict ethical guidelines and a focus on providing quality healthcare services with integrity, they have demonstrated that success can be achieved without compromising on principles. The recognition bestowed upon them by the Bajaj Group underscores the importance of promoting fair business practices within the healthcare industry and beyond."