

Lilavati Hospital provides free treatment for families of Pahalgam attack victims and the injured.

Mumbai, Apr 24 – In a compassionate response to the recent tragic events in Pahalgam, Lilavati Hospital and Research Centre has announced that it will offer free medical treatment to individuals affected by the terror attack that occurred on Tuesday. This attack resulted in the deaths of at least 26 people, primarily tourists, and left many others injured when terrorists opened fire at a popular meadow near Pahalgam town in Anantnag district, South Kashmir.

Rajesh Mehta, Permanent Trustee of Lilavati Hospital & Research Centre, expressed the hospital's profound sorrow over the incident. "We at Lilavati Hospital and Research Centre are deeply shocked and saddened by the heinous terrorist attack in Pahalgam, Kashmir. On behalf of our entire board, under the guidance of Charuben Mehta (Founder, Permanent Trustee for Life, Lilavati Hospital), I extend our heartfelt condolences to the victims and their families," he stated.

In his message, Mehta emphasized the hospital's commitment to serve humanity during this time of national grief. "In this hour of national grief, we stand in unwavering solidarity with our fellow citizens, the Indian Army, and the Government of India. As part of our commitment to serve humanity, we are offering free medical treatment to those injured in this attack and to individuals who have lost a family member," he added.

Lilavati Hospital encourages those in need of medical care and support to reach out to them immediately. This initiative underscores the hospital's dedication to providing assistance to those affected by this tragic event, reflecting a strong community spirit in the face of adversity.
