

2 hosps offer free medical aid to injured

Mumbai: Two city hospitals -- H N Reliance Hospital in Girgaum and Lilavati Hospital in Bandra — have begun offering free medical aid to victims of the Pahalgam terror attack. Also, four municipal hospitals — Nair, KEM, Sion and Cooper -- will provide mental health services to those injured and their kin to tide over trauma, an official said. A press release from Reliance Industries promised “free treatment to all the injured.” Apart from free medical treatment, Lilavati Hospital trustee Rajesh Mehta said the hospital has also established a helpline. In the municipal hospitals, services will be provided from 9 am to 4 pm, an official release said. TNN
